

Free youth basketball clinics begin next month

Beginning in October, free basketball clinics will be offered at three community centers for youth ages 6 to 17. To view the schedule, visit www.DaytonaBeach.gov/YouthBasketball. Following the clinics, the city's popular youth basketball league will run from Nov. 4 through Feb. 14, 2025. The league's draft will be at the Cherry Cultural & Educational Center, 925 George W. Engram Blvd. Athletes will focus on the fundamentals of basketball, including defense, shooting, passing and proper form, and will be divided by skill level and trained as competitive athletes. All players will be encouraged to focus on teamwork and self-confidence while having fun in a safe and friendly environment. There will be a training league for youth ages 4 and 5. The fee to participate in the basketball league is $40.

To register for the youth basketball league, visit www.DaytonaBeach.gov/Activities. Registration ends Tuesday, Nov. 1.
